Hollywood to Deauville! Delta and Air France sponsor 44th American Film Festival

Air France and Delta Air Lines are the official airlines of the 44th annual American Film Festival in Deauville for the fifth consecutive year. The world's largest celebration of American cinema runs from August 31 to September 9, offering round-the-clock screenings of both modern Hollywood and independent movies.

Air France and Delta are bringing Hollywood glamour to the famous beach chalets of Deauville with 20 weekly flights between Los Angeles and Paris-Charles de Gaulle, including Delta's new nonstop service, which launched in June 2018. In addition, customers benefit from connections to Los Angeles from destinations across Europe, the Middle East, Africa and India via the Paris-Charles de Gaulle hub.

"Cinema is an integral part of Air France's DNA and is today an essential part of the travel experience. Air France is one of the largest inflight movie theaters in the world, with over 1,200 hours of video on demand, available in 12 languages on the 38,000 screens on our long-haul fleet. It is therefore quite natural for Air France to be sponsoring the Deauville American Film Festival for the fifth consecutive year, alongside our strategic partner Delta Airlines, with whom the Air France-KLM group offers the most complete range of flights over the North Atlantic," said Patrick Alexandre, Executive Vice-President Commercial, Sales and Alliances, Air France-KLM.

"Sponsoring the Deauville Film Festival in the same year as launching a new route to Los Angeles is particularly significant, and we are excited to be a part of the action again with our partner, Air France," said, Corneel Koster, Delta's Senior Vice President Europe, Middle East, Africa and India. "From offering the latest Hollywood blockbusters on-demand to quality on-board service, upgraded terminals and a V.I.P. suite at LAX, Delta offers special treatment between Paris and L.A., for movie stars and enthusiasts alike."

More than 1,200 hours of inflight entertainment in Air France cabins

With over 38,000 seats equipped with in-seat video screens on long-haul flights and more than 1,200 hours of programming each month, available in 12 languages, Air France is one of the world's biggest cinemas! The company offers movies, TV shows, cartoons, newspapers, magazines and music available on board from 30 hours before departure on Air France Play.

Air France offers all passengers latest-generation 24-inch HD touch screens in the La Première cabin, 16-inch screens in Business Class, 12-inch ones in Premium Economy, and 9-inch screens in Economy. The new screens have a completely overhauled graphic interface inspired by tablet computer navigation techniques, and are available in twelve languages.

Air France Studio, Air France's audio-visual and cinematographic production offer

Air France studio promotes cinema, fashion and the media, by providing professionals with a variety of Air France locations: on board or at the foot of an aircraft, in a Business lounge, at a check-in desk or in the immensity of an aircraft hangar. Air France studio also provides film locations with Air France brand accessories, products and vehicles, accompanies the teams behind the scenes, from the organization to the promotion of audiovisual productions and organizes the transport of film crews and equipment.

Delta's in-flight entertainment innovations

Delta operates the world's largest fleet of aircraft offering in-seat on-demand (AVOD) entertainment for every customer with thousands of hours' free content available on Delta Studio. Customers can select the latest cinema releases – including French movies – or classic favourites and watch on individual screens or their own devices via the Wi-Fi enabled in-flight streaming service. What's more, customers can enjoy their favourite TV shows, make personalized music playlists and play games.

Customers also have optional access to high-speed Wi-Fi and can keep in touch with friends, family and colleagues at 30,000 feet thanks to free mobile messaging.

Delta One customers can sit back and be entertained while enjoying menus created by celebrated Los Angeles chef duo, Jon Shook and Vinny Dotolo from Jon & Vinny's. Their famous L.A. fare is served on select routes from the city, including Paris.
